PHILADELPHIA, March 12 (AP)—Seventeen months after the August, 1955 floods the Pocono Mountain area still is a mess of torn up roads, washed out bridges and many miles of detour, the Keystone Automobile Club said today.

J. Maxwell Smith, president, said the State Highway Department has "done very little to remedy this deplorable situation."

Smith, who called for the end of the one cent emergency gasoline tax assessed motorists for flood repairs, said by the biennium ending May 31, a total of $46 million will have been collected through this tax.

He compared this with a figure of $7,301,281 he said had been spent for flood repairs as of last Dec. 31.

"Keystone," said Smith, "is unalterably opposed to keeping the one-cent gasoline tax levied nearly two years ago for repairs of storm damage."

House Requests Eisenhower To Point Out Where Record Budget Cuts Can Be Made

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Over almost solid Republican opposition, the House tonight asked President Eisenhower to point out where "substantial reductions" can be made in his record peacetime budget.

It sent the President a resolution saying his $71,800,000,000 budget must be cut "in the public interest," and requesting him to "indicate the places and amounts in his budget where he thinks substantial reductions may best be made."

The resolution was passed by roll-call vote of 219-178.

Voting for the measure were 10 Republicans and 209 Democrats. Opposed were 175 Republicans and 3 Democrats.

The resolution does not go to the Senate since it is merely an expression of House opinion. Eisenhower doesn't have to sign it nor does he have to pay any attention to it. It has no binding legal effect.

Its passage had been overshadowed a few hours earlier when the House voted to call up the resolution for immediate debate.

Republicans
Republicans proposed to send the resolution back to committee but this move was defeated 214-185 just before the final vote on passage.

In an apparent effort to offset the House action, the conference of Republican senators unanimously approved tonight a resolution calling on Congress to cut "wherever possible consistent with the security of national defense."

Chairman Saltonstall of Massachusetts announced after a closed meeting that the resolution was for the "guidance" of Republican members. He said more than half the 47 GOP senators attended the meeting at which it was adopted.

The resolution was framed speedily as the House debated.

In their resolution, the Republican senators said they are "in accord with the President's recommendation that the Congress reduce the budget wherever possible." Eisenhower has said it is Congress' duty to cut his proposed spending outlays if it can.

The Democratic-sponsored resolution approved by the House was without precedent.

Republicans argued it amounted to "back passing" by Congress and an abdication of responsibility.

Democrats contended it was and some others high in the administration had suggested the budget could be cut but didn't say where.

United States Reaffirms China Policy

CANBERRA, Australia, March 12 (AP)—The United States reaffirmed before its Southeast Asia allies today a determination not to recognize Communist China.

Seeking to dispel rumors the Eisenhower administration might soften its stand on Red China, Secretary of State Dulles declared:

"United States diplomatic recognition of the Chinese Communist regime would serve no national purpose but would strengthen and encourage influence hostile to us and to our allies and further imperil lands whose independence is related to our own peace and security."

Dulles told the SEATO Council of Ministers the United States "adheres steadfastly" to its recognition of Nationalist China and its opposition to giving China's seat in the United Nations to the Peking government.

Organization

SEATO is the eight-nation organization formed three years ago against Communist aggression aimed at the countries on Red China's southeast and southern borders.

Andrew H. Berding, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, told newsmen later Dulles' statement was meant to dispel numerous rumors during the past three or four weeks that the United States was considering a change in its policy toward Communist China.

Egypt Halts Orders On Administration

CAIRO, Egypt, March 12 (AP)—Egypt tonight withheld orders to send a civil administration into the Gaza Strip in the midst of widespread concern over its announced intention of governing there.

The announcement yesterday that Egypt would take over civil control of the strip immediately stirred up a diplomatic storm in the U.N. and in Israel and Washington.

Diplomatic quarters said U. N. officials believe Egypt's hasty decision violated an understanding between U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt.

An official of Egypt's Palestine Department said he did not know when Egyptian administrators will go to Gaza.

Contact
U. N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche was seeing Egyptian officials and keeping in close telephone contact with U. N. headquarters in New York.

There were indications a compromise may be worked out so that Egypt would take over civil control of the strip and the U. N. peace on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier.

Fears remained that Israel would react sharply and create a new crisis. The Israelis withdrew from Gaza on the assumption that Egypt would not be permitted to return. Israel accuses Egypt of using Gaza as a base for raids on Israel.

The U. N. Emergency Force moved into the strip behind the Israelis and its action was given as one reason for Egypt's decision to take over civil administration. Egypt had protested to Hammarskjöld because UNEF troops fired over the heads of an Arab mob in Gaza Sunday.

The U. N. confirmed for the first time that one Arab was wounded fatally by a ricocheting bullet. The death was first reported in the Egyptian press.

Bunche told reporters he had emphasized in telephone talks with Hammarskjöld the UNEF is in Egypt only by permission of the Egyptian government. He said he is awaiting new instructions from Hammarskjöld.

In other developments, Israel's Foreign Minister Golda Meir called in U. S. Ambassador Edward B. Lawson in Jerusalem and expressed Israel's "most serious concern" at the Gaza developments.

Mrs. Meir also instructed Abba Eban, Israeli ambassador to Washington, to return from a vacation to his post.

Two Burglary Suspects In Prison

TWO STROUDSBURG men have been remanded to the Monroe County jail to await further action on four charges of burglary, involving the theft of merchandise valued at several hundred dollars.

Bruce Hoover, 28, of 613 1/2 Sarah St., and Edward Barton, Jr., 32, of Howard St., are charged with breaks at the home of F. Earl MacVaugh in Paradise Valley; Paradise Inn, Lone Pine Inn in Henryville, and at the Pinebrook Bible Conference property.

State Police

State Police said money, food, radios, guns, clothing, whiskey, a record player, power saw and bedding, were among the items taken. Hoover was arraigned on two burglary counts before Justice of the Peace John C. Foelker yesterday. Troopers said arraignment of Barton was postponed in the absence of his attorney.

The breaks occurred since January, State Police said.

Tradition Of Wildcat Hunting Continues In Canadensis Region

By Leonard Randolph

CANADENSIS — The dog circled for a minute, then picked up the half-cold trail of the animal.

Hunched forward in the sharp chill of the morning, she waited poised, shivering with the cold and the sudden, hot thirst for hunting.

A split second later "Pocono Nell," a six-and-a-half year old Blue-tick-Walker Foxhound, was off through the underbrush and the lowlying marshland of Barrett Township.

This was Monday morning. It was 8:30. "Nell" was taking part in her fifth "classic" hunt in the Canadensis region.

With the darting, calculated sense of the good hound on a track, "Nell" dodged and swerved toward the swamp. The men who had stood silently behind her after they set her on the track they'd spotted began to follow, racing a little now and then as she hurried ahead of them, catching a hard, strong scent.

The scent of the track had been left by a wildcat the night before. It was still strong enough to keep the dog running, nose down, legs stopping and starting like a patterned machine.

Thus began the 1957 running of a "chase" which has been held annually the past 40 years. It is a tradition from the past kept alive and meaningful in the hearts and conversations of five men who live in Barrett Township.

The men are lifelong residents of their area. They are carrying on a custom begun years and years ago by their fathers and grandfathers and handed down to them through family ties.

"We were born in it," one of the men says. "I guess you almost have to be. You can't turn a man into a fox or cat hunter overnight."

These are the men: Ray Price Sr., an auto agency owner; Milton Carlton, hotel owner; his brother, LeRoy, resort garage manager; Joseph Price, resort owner; Stanley VanVliet, insurance broker.

"Nell" belongs to VanVliet. She is a cross-breed of two of the most famous tracking-hound breeds in the U. S. Of the two, "The Walker" is the possessor of the most enviable reputation and is used almost exclusively in the South where hunting to hounds is still a widespread practice.

The men had waited weeks for the "right" morning. Monday was almost perfect.

There was a "fine snow" on the mountain and snow governs such hunting. If you have it, you can spot tracks easily. Without it, there is little hope unless you depend altogether on the senses of the dog.

The five men got together early in the morning by pre-arrangement. They drove to the Promised Land region. Shortly after they got out of the car they found "what we thought was a cat track."

For three hours "Pocono Nell" kept the men following her through the swampy lowland. The long tracking, at top, perceptible speed, is one mark of a good foxhound. "Nell" didn't let the men down.

At 11:30, she was joined by a

Teamsters Unable To Show Records

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—A top official of the Teamsters Union in Oregon acknowledged to the Senate rackets committee today that some union records sought by the committee have been destroyed.

"I think there are some records of invoice and canceled check status that have been destroyed," said Clyde C. Crosby, the union's international organizer in Oregon.

But Crosby said he would be "disturbed" if he found that all the books and records had been disposed of.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said the senators are "vitaly interested" in what the documents contain. An unsuccessful attempt to subpoena them was made last month.

Under questioning, Crosby testified he didn't "know for sure" whether the records of Teamsters Union Joint Council 37 from mid-1954 onward had been destroyed.

Period

Kennedy said this was the period when Tom Maloney and Joe McLaughlin, two Seattle gamblers, were associated with union officials in Portland, Ore. Witnesses have alleged Maloney and McLaughlin were brought to Portland as part of a scheme to take over there.

"Have they been destroyed?" Kennedy demanded, referring to the records.

"I don't think there's the slightest connection," Crosby replied.

"If you will tell me the truth," Kennedy began.

"I am telling the truth," the witness broke in, "and I certainly feel you are taking unfair advantage of me when you imply that I am not."

Crosby then went on to report his belief that some of the records are gone.

Beck Confers With Duff

SEATTLE, March 12 (AP)—Dave Beck said today he has talked with former Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania about the possibility of Duff becoming his attorney, "but there is no final conclusion."

In response to an inquiry about the Duff report in the East, the president of the Teamsters' Union said he had discussed the possibility with the former Republican senator because of the illness of his personal attorney in Seattle.

New Industry Interested In Locating In Bangor Area

BANGOR — The Slate Belt Development Corp. last night learned that a light metals industry is interested in locating in the area.

This firm would employ 200 men and 15 clerical workers, according to a report made by Ernest Turtzo and R. Kenneth Ace.

They also reported that the company would bring with it only 18 key personnel. The balance would be engaged locally.

The firm has requested that land be made available for its use, that it be graded, that a railroad siding be installed, and that the corporation help meet the cost of moving Building

The company plans the erection of a $600,000 plant, covering 100,000 square feet of space. Plans for financing its erection have already been made.

The report said the company anticipates an annual payroll of $800,000, with non-seasonable employment.

To entice this company here, the Slate Belt Development Corp. will need $20,000. The firm has agreed to place a bond on itself to guarantee its moving here.

Joseph H. Beers was named chairman of the committee to contact local banks for their cooperation, and Ace was appointed chairman of a committee to contact Slate Belt business firms.

Atty. Richard Kitto of Pen Argyl reported the corporation has now received approval to operate from the State. It has also been authorized to apply to the Northampton County Court for a charter as a non-profit corporation.

Provision

Breon said the federation-backed bill "provides the entire $1.50 increase to be used only for land and stream acquisition."

The commission favors a bill that would give it extra revenue for land acquisition as well as for other phases of a far-reaching program to improve the agency's services.

"We are not giving them a nickel to fritter away on anything they (the commission) think they need money for," said Breon.

Some time ago directors of the federation refused to endorse the commission's proposed $5 license fee but approved a $1.50 increase with $1 to be earmarked for land and stream acquisition.

Pennsylvania's 700,000 anglers purchase licenses on a calendar year basis. Thus any change in fee given final approval in the current legislature would not take effect until 1958.

Until 1948 resident licenses cost $1.50. The cost then went up to $2 and later an additional 50-cent charge was approved by the 1953 legislature.

House Orders Safety Devices For Route 22

HARRISBURG, March 12 (AP)—The House today adopted over Democratic protests a resolution calling on Gov. Leader to order installation of additional safety measures along U. S. 22 in Easton.

Rep. Petrosky (D—Westmoreland) objected to the proposal, sponsored by three Northampton County Republicans, on the ground the department was now making a study of the situation and would correct the hazard.

"Let's top the murders now," declared Rep. Ide in supporting the proposal. "The people killed know nothing about 'systematic planning or political expedience'."

Petrosky had stated that he believed the resolution was a matter of political expediency.

The resolution notes an "exceptionally high rate of serious accidents" along the highway from the western boundary of the city to the Delaware River Bridge. It was completed about two years ago as part of the Lehigh Valley Thruway system.

Discussion

After almost half an hour discussion there were no dissents in a voice vote.

The speed limit along the curving roadway on the edge of Bushkill Creek is fixed at 35 miles an hour and reflecting indicators are being put up at exits.

Petrosky said an additional state police patrol was instituted along the road about six weeks ago.

"The construction of this 'pike' was a colossal error on the part of the Highways Department," Ide declared. Petrosky agreed and noted that it was built during the tion.

Ide termed the road the "worst stretch on U. S. 22 and the only way to stop the killing is to install a medial strip and proper lighting."

Gaza Strip Control Key To Trouble

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Israel expressed to the United States tonight its alarm over Egyptian talk about taking over the Gaza Strip and reimposing the Suez Canal blockade against Israel.

The Israeli ambassador, Abba Eban, cut short his Florida vacation to fly back to Washington for urgent talks tomorrow at the State Department.

The man Eban left in charge of the Israeli Embassy, Minister Reuben Shiloah, called at the State Department tonight and talked to Acting Secretary Christian A. Herter for 40 minutes.

The Israeli Embassy said afterward Shiloah acted on telephoned and cabled instructions from the Israeli government at Jerusalem.

The embassy said Shiloah told Herter the Israeli government viewed with seriousness recent statements attributed to Egyptian officials. These statements were to the effect that Egypt had appointed a civil administrator for the Gaza Strip, now held by United Nations forces who took over from retiring Israeli troops.

Statement
The Israeli diplomatic actively followed by a few hours a State Department statement obviously aimed at Egypt.

The statement, made by State Department press officer Lincoln White at his news conference, called on all countries concerned to cooperate with the United Nations to restore peace and tranquility to the Sinai Peninsula.

Shiloah was understood to have indicated to Herter that Israel may feel free to exercise its right of self-defense should Egypt reimpose control over Gaza. This could lead to more Sinai fighting.

The Israelis evacuated the area on the assumption that Egypt would refrain from exercising its right of control over Gaza, a right accorded Egypt in the Palestine truce.

If this assumption proves false, Israelis indicated, Israeli troops may be given orders to return to Gaza. The Israelis are reported determined not to adopt a wait-and-see attitude for any length of time following any Egyptian return to Gaza. It was from Gaza bases that Egyptian commandos staged border raids against Israel in the tit-for-tat frontier skirmishing that eventually erupted into the Israeli attack on Egypt last fall.

The statement issued by White said "The United States government is closely following developments in the Middle East respecting the Gaza Strip and the Suez Canal."

"We have consistently and strongly supported the role of the United Nations in these issues, and specifically the functioning of the U. N. Emergency Force in its attempt to restore conditions of tranquility."

Cooperation
"We hope that all the parties concerned will continue to cooperate with the U. N. and its agencies in efforts to maintain peace and tranquility in the area."

White issued his statement to a news conference some three hours after President Eisenhower's special Middle East ambassador, former congressman James P. Richards, took off for Beirut, Lebanon.

Richards' mission is to find out, in 18 countries beginning with Lebanon, where and how much military-economic aid can be used in the Middle East.

His recommendations will guide Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles in putting into effect the Eisenhower program for blocking communism in the area.

Richards, a Democrat from South Carolina, was formerly chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body. To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H stimulate it to action; to a normal urge to purge. And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy. Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor grips; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. # Directors Of YMCA Discuss Mortgages Totaling $43,000

Failure To Honor Pledges Causes Problem

FINANCIAL matters occupied directors of the Monroe County YMCA at their monthly meeting last night.

Chief consideration was given to the problem of liquidating the building fund indebtedness resulting from the failure and inability of a number of people to pay the pledges they made during the two campaigns for funds.

The shrinkage has left the association with mortgages totaling $43,000, according to J. L. Cohen, chairman of the finance committee. The entire amount will not have to be raised locally, he said, if the board is successful in its efforts to have the Kresge Foundation extend its offer to contribute funds toward the cost of the new building.

The foundation had set a Dec. 31, 1956 deadline for completing payment on its pledge, which was made contingent upon the amount of money contributed locally. Since not all of the local pledges were collected, Cohen said, the foundation has withheld payment of its final check until it receives an accounting of the amount paid locally.

Plans

The board discussed the matter at length and authorized its officers, headed by President Alex Bensinger, to proceed with plans for wiping out the indebtedness.

Finances also entered into the problems of personnel and equipment. Earl Groner, personnel committee chairman, reported that membership of the local YMCA and the Barrett Branch at Mountaintown has increased to the point where a full-time boys' work secretary is needed at the Stroudsburg buildings. William McDonnell now divides his time between Barrett and Stroudsburg. Groner recommended that the finance committee take the matter into consideration in planning the current year's budget.

James T. Kitson, reporting for the youth committee, said the 14-year-old bus which had been used to transport boys to the YMCA Day Camp is no longer usable and asked that some provision for buying another bus or allocating funds for transportation be included in the budget. The matter was referred back to the committee to determine which would be the most feasible plan.

Richard M. Frantz, of Scotrun, was elected a member of the board to fill the unexpired term of Merle C. Ostrom, retired general manager of The Daily Record, who is now living in Florida.

John R. Wilson reported that total attendance in YMCA activities was 6,800 in February, plus 420 present at non-YMCA meetings. Barrett Branch attendance was 1,482.

He reported Mrs. Donald Henzy had been employed as a part-time worker in the YMCA office, and disclosed that club, gymnasium, swimming pool and other activities had risen during the winter as the membership increased.

Wilson and Bensinger were elected to represent the association at the State YMCA convention in Harrisburg May 3 and 4.

UNIVERSAL MURAL made by fifth graders at Clearview School shows placement of the Sun, Earth, other planets in the sky. Pupils became interested in solar system through discussion of "heat" in class. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Clearview's Fifth Grade Students Build 'Universe'

ROCK-HEADED realists (so-called) used to deride star-gazers as useless idealists.

Partly because of this, maybe, the whole star-gazing business has gone partly bankrupt.

A group of fifth grade students at Clearview School have taken a forceful exception to the old-fashioned rule, however.

They maintain, along with their teachers, that sometimes when you look at the stars you are really getting a better idea about the world you live in.

They've even gone so far as to construct their own universe. And it all started with a discussion about the school's heating system.

It's not really a "universe," of course. But it is "scale model"—meaning that all of the planets have their proper relationship, in size, to the others.

It's made out of papier-mache, clay, powdered paints and a large sheet of paper. There are also a number of geometrically-perfect but singularly seasonal "gold stars."

Dominating the bas-relief and mobile mural is "The Sun," a huge, unrepentant half-disc glowing in the left corner. This is a paper cut-out, pasted on the large, dark paper background.

It may seem like a long way from "The Sun" to the heating vent in an ordinary room in a school like Clearview. But was it? The fifth graders made it in less than two weeks.

It started in class one afternoon. Teacher Woodrow Berger and his student teacher, Floyd Elber, from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, got a question about "where does the heat come from when it comes out of the wall?" The "wall" in this case referred to the heating vent.

Berger and Elber began a discussion of heat. That led to a discussion of fuel. And what is fuel? And what makes coal? What makes oil?

The discussion began one of those wonderful, adventurous, exploratory circles that occasionally erupt in classrooms. It touched the natural elements of life, the growth and death of plants, their compression into the earth, the combination of minerals, the relationship between the Sun and the Earth and Man.

The origin of heat is the Sun, the class was told. Then the teachers arranged a full study of the "solar system." It began with a film strip, showing the outlines of the planets, the stars and the sun. Then the pupils compiled their own list of questions for future study.

On assignment, they began to "dig up" facts about the planets. How far were each of the planets from the Sun? What was the size of each of these?

With these questions answered (by scientific research) the pupils turned to their skills in arithmetic. Mathematics could be used to figure out the ratio of size on the "scale model." They worked out the "scale" on paper first.

A "lot of planning went into this," Clearview principal Ralph Knauf said last night, looking at the place of honor the mural now holds in the school's main corridor. Knauf had the look of a man whose only child has just said "daddy" for the first time in front of a group of in-laws.

The children did almost all of the planning, themselves, with the supervision of their teachers. Then they chose their construction materials and began the actual work.

Papier-mache, a pulp-paper mash which forms a plaster-like substance when it hardens, was used for all the larger planets. For the smaller planets, the students chose plain old modeling clay.

The large paper sheet used for the background was painted dark. For two reasons, actually. It made the planets show up better. And it also represented nighttime better and that's the only time you can see the stars or planets such as Mars.

With the "stars" properly placed and the sun given its place of dominating eloquence to one side, the pupils began the ticklish task of suspending the "planets" in their precise location to the sun.

The planets were painted in two colors—yellow for the side facing the sun, dark blue for the side away from it. There were movable "rings" around Saturn.

Against the enormous background of the "sky," with the sun hovering with its huge bulk near it, the Earth became small and delicate. It was a spot of clay in a vast, expansive universe.

And it was this feeling—not just the facts of the case—that teachers Berger and Elber hoped to convey.

From the mural, the children in the class began to envision their own concept of the greatness of the sun and the grandeur of the universe itself.

Today, the planets and their bright orange sun, are the talk of the school. More parents have told teachers about the project than anything Clearview pupils have done recently, Knauf said.

One woman, whose son is in another grade, stopped in the hall yesterday to say this:

"My boy came home from school and he was so excited. Mom, he said they've got a thing up on the wall at school. You ought to see it. It's got the Earth and the Sun and Mars and Venus and Pluto on it."

The boy may have transformed Pluto into something like a symphony instrument, but the lesson was there all the same.

He had seen the Sun, And, thanks to the fifth grade, he knew that it shines on something beyond the ground he walks on.

Gerald Snyder To Run For Tax Collector

GERALD A. Snyder, 99 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg, last night announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for tax collector in that borough.

A native of East Stroudsburg, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Snyder Sr.

Snyder is a 1943 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School and an enlisted veteran of World War Two. He served with the U. S. Army Air Force in the South Pacific area.

In 1949 he was graduated from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College with the degree of Bachelor of Science in education. Since then he has attended the Graduate School of Political Science at the University of Pittsburgh.

He is now employed as a public school teacher in the Belvidere High School at Belvidere, N.J., where he is also serving as head of the Department of English.

Snyder has been active in local politics since he was 21 years old. He was first appointed then elected committeeman from the Second Ward in East Stroudsburg.

Committee Member

In the 1956 Monroe County primary election, Snyder was named to membership on the Pennsylvania State Republican Committee by local voters.

He is married to the former Kathleen Schlough, East Stroudsburg. They have two daughters, Susan and Linda. He is a Sunday School teacher at Grace Lutheran Church and previously served as a superintendent of the Sunday School there. He is also a trustee of the church and a member of its council.

Active in community affairs, he has served in a number of local campaigns including the drive for YMCA membership, the Community Chest and the Cancer Crusade. He holds membership in the East Stroudsburg Lodge of F and AM, Lehigh Consistory, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

In announcing his candidacy last night, Snyder said that the position of tax collector "is a most important one within our borough."

"This is particularly true," he said, "in the face of rising taxes and increased governmental expenditures. Because the cost is constantly increasing, the maximum efficiency in the collection of taxes becomes an absolute necessity."

"The importance of the post is further heightened by the need for increased service and fair treatment to all taxpayers, as individuals," he said.

Two Farm Workers Draw Sentences

MILFORD — Two farm workers were sentenced in Pike County Court yesterday on charges involving the robbery of a Mattamoras finance company executive last January.

President Judge Fred W. Davis sentenced Benjamin Lopez Gomez to six to 12 years in Eastern Penitentiary on a burglary charge. A similar sentence was imposed on a robbery charge. Both prison sentences are to run concurrently.

Fine

Gomez further was ordered to pay $101 in fines, and costs, and make restitution.

Carlos Juan Cascel was sentenced to an indeterminate term at Camp Hill on burglary and robbery complaints.

The robbery complaints stemmed from the theft last Jan. 9 of $300 in cash from James Monaghan, vice president of the Individual Finance Co. in Mattamoras.

Doctor Hurt In Accident

HAMLIN — Dreher Township Constable, Norris Scott of Angels, escaped with bruises and a sprained wrist when his new sedan overturned on Route 90 near here at 4 a. m. yesterday.

Four hours later, Dr. Emil T.

Dr. Niesen was taken to Wayne Memorial Hospital in Honesdale, with a possible fracture leg.

Approval Of New Jersey Highway Means Increased Traffic For Poconos Region

The Pocono Mountains region, already the mecca for many thousands of metropolitan area vacationers each year, stands to benefit greatly by U.S. Bureau of Public Roads approval of a proposed highway in New Jersey.

The Garden State is planning to build a limited-access superhighway from the George Washington Bridge, New York City to Columbia, N.J., where it will connect with the Delaware River bridges at Portland and Delaware Water Gap.

Running in an almost straight line between the two points, the roadway will shorten the distance and driving time from New York to the Poconos and attract many more motorists to our area.

When completed, the cross-state freeway will fill a long-felt need by speeding the flow of traffic between the Hudson and Delaware Rivers, but it will also pose a problem for Pennsylvania unless simultaneous steps are taken to handle the traffic in this state.

A number of highway projects have been proposed for our area, among them the Stroudsburgs Thruway, other improvements to Route 611 and the Keystone Shortway. All are highly essential if the heavy traffic volume is to be accommodated on this side of the Delaware River.

We implore state and federal officials to expedite the approval and plans for these highway projects, so that actual construction will not be delayed. The need is pressing and it will grow by leaps and bounds in the coming years.

Stream Clearance Affords Pocono Area Measure Of Protection Against Flood

News that less than the allocated sum was spent in flood-debris clearance in the three-county Pocono district speaks well for those in charge of the massive project.

Eleven streams in Monroe County, four in Wayne and four in Pike were cleared of debris that was deposited by the flash flood of 1955. The job was completed within the last month at a total cost of $778,335.88, which is $31,664.12 less than the amount appropriated for the work.

We can be thankful that the job is finished and that our streams are better able to handle an excessive runoff of rainfall than they were before the flood struck.

Such is the case, because the cleanup project carried out by the Department of Forests and Waters covered more than debris removal. It also included channel relocations, elimination of old hazards and construction of dike-like banks on both sides of the streams.

The next step in bringing us flood control is wrapped up in the system of protective dikes being planned for the Brodheads and Pocono Creek sections of the Stroudsburgs. We hope no time is lost in getting actual construction under way.

Socialized Medicine Not Too Successful

A few years ago we were hearing a lot in this country about England's system of socialized medicine. There were people who were telling us that America should follow the same pattern.

But the latest word from London paints a picture much less enticing. It says Britain's doctors now threaten to "walk out of the state-run health service unless the government meets their demand for a 24 per cent pay increase."

British doctors presently receive $2.38 per year for each of the first 1,000 national health patients. The amount increases for additional patients.

But the British Medical Assn. in which the realm's 40,000 physicians are enrolled says this isn't enough.

If we keep our eye on England, we'll see what happens in a country where skilled medical services isn't paid enough and where individual enterprise is submerged in socialization.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

American Communist Party Brushes Off Resolution On Russian Anti-Semitism

Among the resolutions that were not passed at the recent convention of the American Communist Party was one introduced by Morris U. Schappes, dealing with anti-Semitism in Soviet Russia. This resolution did not come up for a vote; it was referred to the incoming National Committee for consideration. The National Committee was instructed "in fraternal manner," to request a statement from the Russian Communist Party explaining what has happened to the Jewish question. If such a request is ever made and it is ever answered, what will be done with the reply?

The resolution presented by Schappes takes cognizance of the anti-Semitism that developed during the Stalin regime. It says: "The distortions of the Leninist policy on the Jewish question, as part of the distortions of the national question under Stalin's rule, led to the execution of the leading Jewish cultural figures, and to the administrative liquidation of all channels for Jewish cultural expression in Yiddish in 1948 and 1949. In the very last years of Stalin's life, these distortions produced the attempt to frame-up the Doctor's Case, and its use for anti-Semitic purposes."

The resolution explains the evils that grew up under Stalin: "Since the XXth Congress in the Soviet Union, the Jewish question in the Soviet Union has been of particular concern. We who had considered that there had been a solution of the national question in general and of the problems of the Jewish people and anti-Semitism in particular, have become aware that the entire problem is more complex than we have hitherto thought. The liquidation of the outstanding Yiddish writers and Jewish cultural life have been known for some time since the XXth Congress.

"More recently, official delegations of the Canadian and British Communist parties, as well as French and American progressive journalists, after visits to the Soviet Union and discussions of the problem there, have publicly expressed dissatisfaction with the failure to restore Jewish cultural life, and also with certain views and judgments about the Jewish people expressed by individual spokesmen of the Soviet Union.

"From one Communist party delegation we learn, for instance, of such disturbing views and judgments as that the Jews were not considered patriotic enough to be allowed to make the Crimea a center of Jewish re-colonization after the war lest the Crimea become a 'place d'armes' against the USSR in case of another war, or that Jews are not loyal enough to return to the USSR from tours abroad."

Out of this discussion, two trends appear: one, that the Jew, individualistic and idealistic, found life under materialistic Communism too burdensome and found means for revolting against the worst phases of it; secondly, that under Stalin, Soviet Russia reverted to pan-Slavic chauvinism and that Stalin abused those minority nationalities, which he could not wipe out, by destroying their distinctive cultures. This has been a Russian problem since the Grand Duchy of Muscovy began to expand by absorbing large non-Russian populations.

During the early days of the Revolution, when Lenin and Trotsky were the major figures in the Soviet, Stalin held the rather secondary position of Commissar of Nationalities. He, not being a Russian himself, was regarded as an expert in this field.

Lenin did not believe that it was necessary to assimilate all the various races and nations that compose Soviet Russia but that each could save its own culture, particularly its language which usually means so much to those who belong to minority groups. This was also Stalin's concept in the early days of the Revolution, but undoubtedly as his power grew, he insisted upon a monolithic state in which there would ultimately be one people, one language, one general belief as to what is right.

In pursuit of such a policy, he sought to destroy the Jews by eliminating their culture, particularly their religion. At first, the use of Yiddish, a Germanic dialect spoken by East European Jews, was encouraged to kill off Hebrew. Then the Yiddish theater and Yiddish press were suppressed. It was a systematic oppression of the cultural life of a people. Finally, under Khrushchev, Soviet Russia in pursuit of Arabic oil, became the principle enemy of the Jews throughout the world.

Schappes's resolution and its treatment by the American Communist Convention therefore takes on a special significance.

When The Lowly Tomato Is Raised To Tomah-to

When I hear tomato pronounced "tomah-to" I feel like the Little Match Girl. When someone refers to his dear "Ah-huht" Mary, I feel like mentioning that mine went to Radcliffe.

This is a purely mid-western reaction. Or maybe purely personal, for heaven knows there are plenty of mid-westerners who couldn't care less how the soup or the relatives are pronounced.

When tomatoes are mentioned, displaced persons from the wide open spaces who find themselves in Ivy League territory can do one of two things — call them "love apples" or order cream of chicken porridge. As for "ahnts" (sometimes called ahnts, indicating Baltimore upbringing) the hinterland does well to stick with the uncles, pretending they were all bachelors. Somehow "ahnt" with a flat "a" casts a shadow on the character of otherwise excellent ladies. And since they were ever kind and generous to us, such impugning is unthinkable.

The only word to put these easterners in their place is "pe-can." Here is a reversal which lends prestige to the corn belt, of which I was once a member in good standing. Pecans are well thought of along the eastern seaboard, but badly pronounced. The final syllable is a flat "a" the way aunt should be said, but isn't. Rightfully (and Webster and Oxford to the contrary) this sweetmeat so good in southern pies is a "pe-cahn." Shake hands with a girl who has picked plenty of them right off the ground, and therefore is qualified to amend the dictionary. Certain over-educated folk say "peek-an" — which abominable speech we cannot bring ourselves to discuss.

"At one point we lived in a Manhattan neighborhood where 'tomah-to' was mandatory in ordering groceries. To have asked for tomatoes would have sent the bookkeepers straight to the credit bureau for proof of one's ability to pay. The natural stubbornness born and bred in the citizens of my area prevented a cowardly submission to such humiliating talk. Either we pointed at the red fruit, saying 'a pound of those' — or we did without. 'Tomah-toes' — never!

All of which is to explain why eastern roadside markets never have enough tomato plants for gardeners. Hardy phlox, zinnias, lettuce and onions galore — but no tomatoes. "Texas feller just bought my last flat of 'tomah-ters," these bewildered horticulturists lament. "Can't understand it. . . show me a customer from the middle West and, sure as shootin', he'll buy up every tomato plant in sight. . . Why? Simple. Transplanted tomato fanciers would rather grow their own than put an 'ah' where it doesn't belong. And have you noticed the fondness of Bostonians, now living in Oklahoma, for pecan trees?

Missile Soars 650 Miles Above Earth In Army Test

Washington, March 12 — Two new spectacular milestones have been chalked up in the increasingly fabulous field of space travel.

It is possible to disclose that:

An Army missile has soared to a record height of 650 miles above the earth, and portions of the device and some instruments have been recovered.

With existing equipment it is feasible for a human being to ascend 50 miles into space and return safely.

No one has done this yet. Closest to it was about half that height.

In a height test by the Bell X-2 experimental plane the pilot reached 124,000 feet, slightly less than 25 miles. Later the rocket plane crashed in a record-setting speed flight.

Animals and sensitive instruments have survived ascents to 50 miles.

Up to that height the probability of a successful return, for human as well as animals and instruments, is primarily dependent on the reliability of the rocket or missile.

Above 50 miles the situation changes radically. The military services have a very low recovery rate beyond that height.

The Army missile which soared to a 650-mile altitude was a scientific "breakthrough" of the supreme importance. The extraordinary test provided invaluable information on numerous problems and factors—all of them highly secret.

However, it is possible to report that the history-making flight lasted "only a few minutes."

The first globe-circling satellite which U. S. scientists will launch, they hope in November, will be "orbited" at 200 to 300 miles. If that experiment proves successful, and it's still a big question mark, the next satellite will be shot to 600 or more miles above the earth.

Notes: Three documents are involved in the impending court-martial of Colonel Nickerson, on charges of revealing classified information about missiles and rockets.

Runaway Missiles—Out of 2,000 tests in ten years, by the three military services, only 14 missiles of various types have gone astray.

That's the highly reassuring record the Pentagon has disclosed to Congress.

Authoritative data was demanded from the military following the recent runaway of a MATA-DOR guided missile in the West. Launched in New Mexico, it got out of control and disappeared over Utah.

Deputy Defense Secretary Reuben Robertson Jr., at a private House Military Appropriations Subcommittee meeting, submitted the following statistics:

Air Force—1,100 firings. Five SNARKS and two MATADORS lost by runaways.

Army—500 firings. Runaways:

Les Carlton, Greene-Dreher-Sterling's number one basketball fan, surprised a little boy in a local store the other day — and made him very happy.

The youngster was sitting on a mechanical horse, eating a sandwich.

Les dropped a dime into the slot and the boy went for a horse-back ride.

Louise Dunkelberger, kindergarten teacher at Morey School, celebrated a birthday yesterday. Sorry we missed the big day, Louise.

Speaking of birthdays brings to mind the fact that Oscar Stuckey and Forrest Corry, both employees of The Daily Record, also had birthdays on Tuesday.

I'll take a real beating for being 24 hours late with this announcement.

Bobby Westbrook, Social Editor of The Daily Record, is driving about in a brand new car these days.

Bobby claims a new car is much better for the cheering up department than a new hat.

Sidney Kushner is currently recovering from an attack of pneumonia at his home 115 Broad St., Stroudsburg.

Sid is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kushner.

A Business Of Your Own

Power Mower Engine Maker Found-Misery Then Reward

Reuben T. Luelfoff and Robert G. Krueger, of Grafton, Wisconsin, have just about run the gamut of the vicissitudes that await the would-be entrepreneur: labor troubles, product and design faults, high taxes, and capital shortages.

But with luck and a good deal of pigheadedness Luelfoff and Krueger have managed to survive and prosper. They are co-founders of Power Products Corp., which makes two-cycle motors for rotary lawn mowers and other power tools.

In 1944 Luelfoff and Krueger, now fifty, worked for West Bend (Wisconsin) Aluminum Co. Krueger was chief engineer in the outboard-motor division, Luelfoff a sales manager.

After World War II, Luelfoff and Krueger tried to interest West Bend in producing motors for mowers. When they couldn't arouse West Bend's interest they started Power Products by raising $103,000 from friends, and from the leading citizens of Grafton (pop. 1,500), who wanted an industry in their otherwise non-industrial town.

Power products' first motors, made mostly of aluminum, weighed less than half what competing motors did and sold well. But in the summer of 1948 disaster struck. An important customer, the Savage Arms Corp., which made reel-type mowers, reported a lot of field trouble; the mower motor would work all right for an hour or so and then quit.

The trouble was traced to faulty carburetors, but Savage canceled all its orders. So did other important customers, and Power Products was shut out of the reel-type mower market.

Luelfoff and Krueger then turned to rotary mowers. Their first big customer was RPM Mfg. Co., which made mowers for Sears, Roebuck. Then disaster struck again: RPM reported Power Products' crankshafts were breaking in the field. Fortunately for Luelfoff and Krueger it was discovered that the trouble was not with their cranks but with RPM's housings.

In 1952 Luelfoff and Krueger, with new confidence, started to enlarge their plant. Financing construction was a problem. They were short of cash (one year they paid out $800,000 in taxes and kept only $200 profits) so they sold 30 per cent of Power Products' stock to Sears, and also got a $600,000 loan from the Sears pension fund.

Last year Power Products produced about 740,000 small air-cooled motors. Its 1956 gross will be about $17 million.

Reminiscing, Luelfoff says, "I have sometimes wondered what form of stupidity possessed me in trying to start a company." He feels better about it now.

Dear Editor Hill:

Inclined as I am to believe, as Elson Ruff puts it, that folks should stress evangelism in the Christian Church, may I be privileged to paraphrase him and say that it's everybody's job. Surely this includes laymen and laywomen.

Sincere lay folks are praying — and mean it — that they will go "all the way with the Master to Jerusalem."

And now to the thought of the great churches. Up to the minute, as it were, it impresses thus: This month we come to the time which for centuries in churches has been "our annual evangelism mission." We are in a new Lenten season. In most of our churches there are special week-night services, weekly prayer services—with preaching as the central theme of Christian Gospel.

This is the time above all others when lay people and others seek recruits for membership in the church. This intensive period climaxes when? Answer is: in Holy Week and in Easter.

This would be a good year to test whether we can really have ardent, effective evangelism . . . homemade leadership on the job. Re-contact your "old" contacts; contact new folks. Now is the time, says Ruff, for all our church folks to search . . . for prospects—and for all of us to

General Hospital To Receive Check From Ford Foundation

GENERAL HOSPITAL of Monroe County will receive a check for $29,950 from the Ford Foundation this month.

The check represents the second half of an original $59,900 allocation to the local hospital.

It is to be used for "establishing, maintaining or expanding services which, at the discretion of each hospital's authorities, are deemed vital to its community."

In Monroe County, the General Hospital board has indicated that the fund would probably be used toward initiation of a building expansion program.

The need for additional beds has been emphasized repeatedly by officials at the hospital and by members of the board. Demands for hospital service within the community have far out-distanced the ability of the local hospital to keep pace through provision of facilities.

Program

Payment to the local hospital is part of a $200 million program to help improve and extend community hospital services in the 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

The project was announced by the Ford Foundation on Dec. 12, 1955. At the same time the Foundation announced two other funds—$210 million to raise college faculty salaries and $90 million to strengthen medical school instruction. Neither of these has direct local connection.

Spokesmen for the Foundation say that this program "is an effort on the part of the Foundation to help strengthen basic American institutions and to encourage wider public support of them."

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There is an ebb and flow in organizations as pronounced as in the ocean if you can see it under the froth of tea committees and the president's new hat.

Just now the tide is running strong in the field of mental health and teacher and nurse recruitment. On the same day that the Woman's Club was having its program on mental health, involving the aged, the county commissioners were contending with much the same problems.

The Progressive Women are having their program tonight on Mental Health and the state Legion Auxiliary has the mentally retarded as their particular project. The Junior Woman's Club is also making the Day Care Center its major concern this year.

The Women's Auxiliary to the Monroe County Medical Society has its nurse recruitment program going strong, and the Soroptimists are helping it along with their nurse scholarships.

Teacher recruitment is something newer. In the same week, the Woman's Club gave its distinguished teacher award in the hopes of stimulating interest in teaching as a profession, and the local chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma held a tea for high school girls interested in teaching as a career.

But don't belittle the froth and feathers. Even the ocean might grow tired of dashing it off against the shore if it weren't for the excitement of breakers tumbling into froth and the rainbow hues of the surf.

First Scout Troop Here 40 Years Ago

The Girl Scouts of Monroe County have a proud heritage. The celebration this week of the 42nd anniversary of National Girl Scouting has set many of the members of the first troop in the county, founded in Pocono Lake, just two years later to recall their experiences.

The Pocono Lake troop, founded just 40 years ago, included 26 members with Martha Hamill, then a teacher in the school, now Mrs. Philip Henning of Stroudsburg, as their first captain. Mrs. Raymond Price, now of Barrett, was assistant leader and later leader of the troop.

They made their own uniforms to fulfill their sewing badge requirements. They held benefits for the needy of the community, and sold Liberty Bonds. With the outbreak of World War I they set up a canteen at the Pocono Summit station to serve soldiers enroute, and held parties for returning soldiers.

So effective was their war-time work, the troop was awarded a medal by the government for outstanding service, a medal which Mrs. Raymond Price still has in her possession. She was later made a Life Member.

Among the original members of that troop were Mrs. Otto Fischer and Mrs. Alice Herrick Hopke.

Mens Night Is Held By Morey PTA

The panel of fathers who discussed the topic "A Child Needs a Full-Time Father," at the men's night program of the Morey Parent Teachers Assn. on Monday night found themselves left with a problem rather than a solution at the conclusion of their discussion.

They all agreed that a child has a right to a proportion of his father's time, and that in fact such time is vital in the development of the child and the understanding of the father.

The problem was where to find such time with the hours spent earning a living plus the hours demanded by community service and other demands, even PTA meeting. A consciousness of the problem and a sincere desire to solve it was the most encouraging advice to come out of the discussion.

Edward Rahn served as moderator with J. Frank Grimm, Rev. John Bollier and Joseph Small taking part in the discussion. The four also served refreshments after the meeting, without fuss or furbelows.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

There are times when my little daughter is very formal with me. On those occasions she opens her eyes especially wide, crinkles her brow thoughtfully, and addresses me quite solemnly as "Mother". This is such a marked departure from the usual "Mommie", that it always amuses me somewhat . . . and I know that one of three things is indicated. Either someone has told her something nice about me, and I have suddenly grown in stature . . . she has observed something nice about herself and has grown in importance in her own eyes . . . or she is about to demand, rather than wheedle, for a special privilege.

I wasn't sure which to be prepared for when she announced one day last week, "Something very nice has happened, Mother."

"Good," I answered dubiously. "What?"

"I'm to be on the radio next Monday."

"That's wonderful," I said. "What are you going to talk about?"

"About being a Brownie. Mrs. Kellogg says I'm to represent our Brownie troop on the WYCKOFF SHOPPER broadcast with you."

"Well, fine," I complimented. "That will be fun . . . you know it doesn't seem possible you're big enough to be doing a radio program with Mommie. What are you going to say?"

My daughter shrugged. "Oh, I don't know exactly," she said airily. "I'm just going to tell what fun it is to be a Brownie . . . and how we work, and play, and sing, and help our Mothers."

"You sold Girl Scout cookies," I reminded her, "and you helped assemble the kits for workers in the Heart Fund campaign."

"We put posters around too . . . for the Community Chest, and the Red Cross, and all the big drives. And we're making First Aid kits out of band aid boxes."

She loves being a Brownie, this widget of mine . . . but I knew just as surely as I'm typing this, that when she was seated on the other side of a mike, the spark would go out of her like bubbles dying in a glass of ginger ale. Once across the table from me, with that strange mental contrivance between, I would no longer be either Mommie or Mother . . . I would be "Mrs. Maloney, the Wyckoff Shopper."

That's exactly what happened when we went to WYCKOFF on Saturday afternoon to tape record our program, and it's a good thing we hadn't planned to devote 15 minutes just to Brownies. It was lucky indeed that joining us in the quarter-hour tribute to the Girl Scouts of America were Linda Nittl, an intermediate scout from Mrs. Clifford Kintner's East Stroudsburg troop, and senior scout Jeanette Munson of Stroudsburg. These older girls were all enthused about the 45th anniversary celebration now in progress, with a big rally planned for this Saturday at Stroudsburg High School, and Jeanette reminisced delightfully about her experiences this past summer when she was among the scouts privileged to make a western tour with Mr. Wyckoff in our store bus.

It was strange how frequently the name WYCKOFF's entered our salute to Scouting . . . what with Mr. Wyckoff's trip, our store being the official Girl and Boy Scouts equipment headquarters, etc. Maura mentioned too the dolls made by the Brownies on Thinking Day and displayed in our Wyckoff window. These delightful toys, dressed in the costumes of foreign lands, were the Brownies' way of thinking about their friends all over the world.

Wyckoff's is delighted to salute Girl Scouts everywhere, particularly the nearly-800 here in our county. It was interesting to hear of their projects and plans. I learned a lot about Scouting . . . and I learned one other thing too—a little girl, heady with excitement about talking on the radio, has a MOTHER . . . but a little girl who has met a microphone face to face for the first time asks her MOMMIE in a timid voice how she did. And her Mommie naturally thinks she was—well, as good as a Girl Scout cookie!

Bangor Club Has Meeting

Bangor—An illustrated lecture on "The Near East Today" was presented by the Rev. Samuel C. Jaxheimer, of Reading, during the meeting of the Senior Woman's Club in the club rooms at the public library building Monday afternoon.

Introduced by Mrs. E. S. Rosenberry, program chairman, the guest speaker declared that "one is amazed at what has been accomplished by the people of Israel." He observed that education is the means by which civilization advances and that this is demonstrated by the contrast between the two governments, Israel and Arab, in the Near East today.

Slides taken by him on a recent trip to this area of the world showed older historical and Biblical places as well as newer buildings in Athens, Cairo, Beirut and the lands of the Arabs and Israel. They also contrasted lands of the Arabs with those of the Israelis.

A clarinet solo by Nancy Yetter, accompanied by Bonnie Sluter, and a trumpet solo by Roger Horn, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Woodrow A. Horn, added to the entertainment. Both performances were Bangor Area Joint High School students who recently participated in all the All Eastern District Band Festival at Hamburg.

Mrs. Clark Hahn, president, directed the business session preceding Mrs. Lester Houck and Mrs. Cornell Wallwork were named as delegates and Mrs. Rosenberry and Mrs. Vernon Hester as alternates to the Northampton County Federation convocation at Bethlehem, April 4.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Hester, chairman; Mrs. Eli Reimer, Mrs. J. Earle Brackbill, Mrs. Harold Anglemeyer and Mrs. Verne Arnts.

Antiques will be displayed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stauffer at the next club gathering Monday afternoon, March 25. Mrs. Albert Foulkes heads the committee of hostesses.

BRANCH RICEY, the classified retired Pittsburgh Pirate general manager who isn't retired, once wrote that a pitching machine was the ideal apparatus to bring out the hitting in the batters.

By this, the veteran baseball player, manager, and official meant that practice via the pitching machine enabled a batter to sharpen his eye almost as close as the greatest blade ever honed.

What made us think of Ricey's remarks was the recent recommendation for the purchase of a pitching machine for East Stroudsburg High School's nine.

There is no doubt in our minds that the man-made hurling outfit will aid the Cavaliers this year. How much only time will tell.

We wouldn't go so far as to say that every Cavalier who has a chance to work out steadily via the pitching apparatus will turn into a Stan Musial, Mickey Mantle or etc.

From our book, hitters are born not made overnight hitting against a sling-shot object that can be maneuvered to throw balls at any rate of speed.

We like to think of the proposed purchase for the Cavalier diamond aspirants as an asset from the standpoint it will give Jack Kist's boys a "moundsman" with accuracy. A hurler who will find the plate practically all the time, and "show" the Eastburgers the strike zone.

So often in high school, batting practice pitchers never find the plate, forcing anxious hitters to swing at anything within the range of their 32 to 38 inch wagon tongues.

The pitching from the machine will be a lesson in itself; an instruction in the rudiments of batting; a chance to give the batters more practice; and a psychological affect on the batter's mind that should bring out his best effort.

As we said before we don't expect Stan Musial to blossom overnight from the new Cavalier venture, but we do feel East Stroudsburg High's baseball aspirants will be none the worse for this modern move.

All will gain one way or the other. And the school officials who instituted the move have let it be known that things aren't standing still across the Brodheads.

Bowling Tidbits — The three-way fight for the individual average leadership in the Industrial League looks like it will go down the stretch before a king is crowned. After last night's Saturday's kegling Bob Smith held on to his slight lead with a 180.29. Right behind is Jim Harmon Sr., with 179.20, followed by former pacesetter Warren Paul, 178.21.

Stroudsburg Garage's league's leaders and first champs, is just two points of clinching the second half flag. However, Dunn's Tavern, the Daily Record and Square Bar and Hughes' Printing are waging a merry battle for second place. Only six points separate the quartet.

Jake Nittel came up with a fine trio in the Monroe Classic league the other night. Jake sparked Square Bar to a three-point win with games of 210, 202, and 227 for a triple of 639.

Red Top Tavern's big men this week were Jack Darr and Jim Harmon Sr., with 610 and 603 respectively. These were the only top notch scores in the circuit.

In the Commercial "B" Pete Budicker had himself a field day, posting a 264 singleton and a 616 trio as his mates — Frank The Barber — moved into a tie for the loop's top perch with the Eagles.

Johnnie's Inn gained a firmer grip on second place in the Monroe County League, taking three points from Bessecker's Diner. Harold Keiper and Angelo DeSanto with 565 each paced the circuit bosses. Other good scores were hit by Leslie Lambert, 596, and John Flood, 571.

New Wing Planned For Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., March 12 — Plans for the construction of a new wing in which will be housed Baseball's Hall of Fame were announced today by Stephen C. Clark, president of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum.

The work will begin at once, Clark said, and will not restrict the viewing of the many exhibits now at the baseball shrine.

Pitt Advances

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 12 — The University of Pittsburgh defeated Morehead State 86-85 to-night at Ohio State's St. John Arena in the opening round of the NCAA basketball playoffs. The victory sends the Panthers, who came from behind in the last minute, against Kentucky at Lexington Friday night in the second round.

Oust Stroudsburg Furnace, Bessecker's Diner At YMCA

TWO EAST STROUDSBURG fives — Ehrlich's Market and Sommers' Ribbon — battled their way into the quarter-finals of the Junior Gold Medal Basketball Tournament by gaining opening round victories at the Stroudsburg YMCA last night.

Ehrlich's, with East Stroudsburg High players Jim Kindrew and Woody Mosteller leading the way, eliminated Stroudsburg Furnace, 55-41, while Sommers' ousted Al Bessecker's Diner, 24-23.

Ducats On Sale For Stags 'C' Title Runoff

NEWFOUNDLAND — Tickets went on sale at Green-Dreher-Sterling High School today for the Stags District 12, Class C championship duel with Delaware Valley High.

Officials said that tickets also may be purchased at Fell the night of the tussle.

Third Meeting

This will be the third meeting between the Stags and Delaware Valley, an independent five, this year. Henry Arneberg's Wayne County League champions and the Milford suburban school have broken even in the two contests played this season.

PIAA officials announced that the winner of Friday's Stags-Delaware contest will meet the District Four, Class C kingspin at Clarks Summit Monday night in the first inter-district action.

Early Spurt Gives Win To M. Smithfield

MIDDLE SMITHFIELD piled up a huge first half lead and then went on to defeat Smithfield, 31-22, in an elementary school game yesterday.

Middle Smithfield, with Darr and Campbell leading the way, posted a 24-6 score at the intermission. Smithfield rallied in the final two periods but the over-early MS edge proved too big of an obstacle.

Darr Is High

Darr led the winners with eight points, followed by Campbell's seven and Raughley's six. B. Smith was top scorer for Smithfield with eight, trailed by McWilliams' six.

Ehrlich's had things pretty much their own way against Stroudsburg Furnace. With Kindrew controlling the boards and tossing in 24 points to take individual game laurels, the Marketmen waltzed away to a 15-5 first period edge and a 31-19 halftime lead.

Only in the last period did the Furnacemen outscore the boys from across the Broadhead, coming out on top 14-13 in the final eight minutes.

Mosteller Sets Up

Mosteller, who took second honors for Ehrlich's with 10, set up a majority of the points for his mates with good floorwork.

Tom Savidge kept the Furnacemen from a rout as he was the main and lone threat with 18 markers.

Down To Wire

The low-scoring Sommers-Bessecker duel was close all the way and wasn't decided until the final minutes. The Dinermen led 7-4 at the end of the first quarter but dropped behind 15-11 at halftime. Bessecker's regained the edge after three periods, 21-20, but the Ribbon came on with a 4-2 advantage in the last canto to gain the verdict.

Jerry Gartner was the top scorer for the Ribbon with 10 points, while Barry Tretheway headed Bessecker's with seven.

Warriors Lose, Knicks Alive

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 12 — The Minneapolis Lakers downed injury-stricken Philadelphia 100-94 tonight to prevent the Warriors from clinching a playoff spot in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn. The Lakers victory kept alive New York's hopes of tying Philadelphia for third place on tomorrow's final day of the season.

'Cousin' Bucs Make Redlegs Fourth Consecutive Victim

TAMPA, Fla., March 12 — The Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost their last 11 games with Cincinnati in the 1956 season, found them easy today as they won a spring training game 6-1. It was the fourth consecutive victory for the Pirates.

The Bucs got 11 hits off four Redleg hurlers, including a homer by Dick Stewart, the rookie sensation.

Ed Bailey, with a home run and a single; Gerry Lynch with a double and a triple and Pete Whisenant with a single and a triple, provided the power for the Reds.

Tribe Raps Cubs

TUCSON, Ariz., March 12 — Scoring seven runs in the first inning, including three on a homer by pitcher Bob Lemon, the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago Cubs, 8-1, for their third victory in four games.

A crowd of 2,429 watched the Cubs go down to their fourth straight exhibition defeat.

The Cubs' only run was a sixth inning homer by pitcher Jim Brosnan.

Jim Busby, Hal Naragon and Joe Altobelli each delivered two hits in the Indians' 11-hit attack.

Boxed Edge Yanks

ST. PETERSBURG, March 12 — After losing their first three exhibition games, the Boston Red Sox finally won today but needed 13 innings to nip the New York Yankees, 1-0.

The run crossed on a break, third baseman Bill Sowron stumbling after fielding a grounder with the bases full and two out.

Skowron, regular Yank first baseman, was making his first start at third and had played brilliantly prior to the mishap. Catcher Haywood Sullivan hit what appeared to be an inning-ending hopper but Skowron lost his footing as he attempted to run to third base ahead of Ted Lepcio, who was coming down from second. As the fielder floundered, Jim Pierfall crossed the plate with the game's only run.

Campy Gets Hit

MIAMI, March 12 — Roy Campanella, whose bad hand affected his batting last season, banged out his first hit of the spring as the Chicago White Sox 8-4 before 3,056 tonight.

Webb Is Aiming For 18th Straight

CHICAGO, March 12 — Spider Webb of Chicago, fourth ranked middleweight contender by the National Boxing Assn., aims for his 19th straight ring triumph tomorrow night against a substitute opponent, Wilf Greaves of Pittsburgh.

Originally, Webb was to meet Randy Sandy, ranked tenth, in the nationally televised and broadcast ABC, 10 p. m., EST, 10 rounder at Chicago Stadium. Sandy injured his left hand in training Sunday and was forced to withdraw.

Ramsey-Morey Tops Eastburg Graders, 29-26

RAMSEY - MOREY'S combined five gained a 29-26 victory over East Stroudsburg Elementary School in the losers' gymnasium yesterday.

Ramsey-Morey jumped off to a 16-6 first quarter edge and ran up a 17-8 lead before East Stroudsburg finally got going in the final half. The Eastburgers outscored their visitors 18-12 in the last two quarters but the lead built up by Ramsey-Morey proved too big to overcome.

Messler and Canfield led the Stroudsburg grade schools with nine and six points respectively. Earl Palmer, of East Stroudsburg, took game scoring honors with 11, followed by Jack VanHorn's six.

Lose 10-Point

Only in the first few minutes and in the last eight did Syracuse look superior to the Yankee Conference champions. Connecticut led by ten points with a little more than eight minutes to play. Then Clark and Vinnie Cohen began hitting, forcing Connecticut to abandon its tight zone defense, and about six minutes later Syracuse was far in front as the game was turned into a scoring race.

Tarheels, Syracuse, Canisius Gain In NCAA Tournament

NEW YORK, March 12 — North Carolina's Tarheels, down for nearly three quarters of the game, showed the stuff that made them the nation's No. 1 team this year by whipping Yale, 90-74 in a first round game of the NCAA tournament tonight. It was the 28th consecutive victory for North Carolina, the only unbeaten major college team this season.

Yale's red haired Johnny Lee rivaled North Carolina's All-American Lennie Rosenblyth as the outstanding player to appear in tonight's three games at Madison Square Garden. It was Lee's sharp shooting that was the big factor in keeping Yale in front through most of the first half and getting the Elis back in contention after North Carolina had begun to move in the second half.

Syracuse and Canisius were the other winners in a triple-header that drew the season's largest college basketball crowd, 16,589, into the Garden.

North Carolina now plays Canisius in the eastern regional tournament at Philadelphia Friday, while Syracuse meets Lafayette, which drew a first round bye in the tournament.

Canisius, combining control, defensive skill and the sharp shooting of Hank Nowak and Joe Leone, whipped West Virginia's Southern Conference champions 64-56 tonight in a first round game in the NCAA's basketball championship.

Halt Hot Rod

West Virginia's All-America Rod Hundley was limited to a single field goal in the first half and Lloyd Sharrar didn't make a basket until 10½ minutes of the second half had passed. Sharrar, the tallest man on the court at 6-10, was the most valuable player of the recent Southern Conference tournament, pulled down very few rebounds. That was about the story of the tournament's first big upset.

Canisius, in complete control from the start, built a 34-18 lead in the first half with Nowak getting half of the Griffins' points. West Virginia, still 16 points down well into the second half, began to put up a real scrap and Canisius lost some of its poise and its lead dwindled. That was enough to make it a hall game—a rather sloppy one but at least interesting —up to the closing minutes. If Leone, the 6-5 Canisius center, hadn't had a tremendous second half, the Mountaineers still might have pulled it out.

A record number of 3,066 teams will participate in the tournament. Last year the entries ran to 2482.

Area Keglers To Roll In Gotham Event

FOUR MONROE County bowling teams will participate in the New York Journal-American Pin Classic on Sunday, April 14.

The area kegling flies slated for action in the Gotham are Eagles of the Commercial "B" League; Red Top Tavern, Community Bar and Grill and Dave Katz and Sons, all of the Monroe Classic circuit.

A record number of 3,066 teams will participate in the tournament. Last year the entries ran to 2482.

Injuries Strike Major Camps In Minor, Severe, Old Forms

By The Associated Press

BASEBALL INJURIES—a few severe, others minor and some old—have struck major league camps in Florida and Arizona and have sidelined more than a dozen athletes with spring training less than two weeks old.

Among the players who have been put out of commission for varying periods are Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants, Carl Furillo of the Brooklyn Dodgers, Steve Gromek of Detroit and Bob Speake and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs.

In the Giants' Phoenix, Ariz., quarters, Manager Bill Rigney isn't as much concerned with Antonelli's ailments as he is with the "dangerous" bat of Foster Castleman, his young third-base-outfielder hopeful.

Line Drives—First Castleman drove a line drive off the left leg of Joe Margoni and put the sophomore left-hander out of action for a couple of days. Then, to show he played no favorites, Castleman blasted one off the right leg of Antonelli, the team's southpaw ace.

Neither injury is regarded as serious, but Antonelli's situation is complicated by a strained neck muscle which he suffered while practicing pickoff throws.

Furillo has a leftover injury—a sore left elbow which he hurt while crashing into a wall late last season. He claims it "hasn't been quite right since." Unless the 35-year-old outfielder comes around, this could mean trouble for the Dodgers.

Gromek, the Tigers' veteran right-hander, was hit above the right eye by a wild pitch thrown by a team mate Jack Cimman. Speake injured his shoulder when he tripped over first base while running out a hit and Banks also has an aching shoulder.

Another Setback—The Dodgers got another setback when Roger Craig came up with a sore elbow while pitching in an intrasquad contest. This was a recurrence of an old injury.

Kansas City catcher Tim Thompson had a relapse of an old knee ailment; Chicago Cubs' pitcher

Minneapolis Group Is Set To Buy Lakers

MINNEAPOLIS, March 12 (AP)—Sale of the Minneapolis Lakers' National Basketball Assn. franchise to a Minneapolis business group was assured today.

The local investors announced that their goal of $200,000, or $50,000 more than the sum required to prevent transfer of the Laker franchise to Kansas City, had been oversubscribed.

$150,000 Check—A check for $150,000 for the franchise will be presented tomorrow to Ben Berger, majority owner of the club since its organization 10 years ago.

Today's announcement apparently ended any change for transfer of the club to Kansas City under the ownership of former baseball star Marty Marion and business partner Milton Fischmann of St. Louis.

Jack Riley, West Point hockey coach, and Bill Harrison, hockey coach at Clarkson, formerly played the sport at Dartmouth.

Bob Rush is taking tests to find the cause of abdominal pains and Ted Williams, 38, of the Boston Red Sox, stiff and sore all over, probably will not start in any exhibition games for the next couple of weeks.

Mickey Mantle's knee have held up well. But the New York Yankees' slugging outfielder showed up for the game against Boston yesterday with a gash in his head.

Mickey's explanation: He bumped into a door.

Solons Argue Back And Forth On Baseball V. S. Business

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), charging Commissioner Ford Frick wants to play "Grand Pooh-Bah" to baseball owners and players, said today Congress needs no full blown investigation to determine that the major leagues constitute big business.

But Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) demanded extensive hearings on the question of declaring baseball an enterprise subject to antitrust laws.

Celler is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and Keating is its senior Republican member.

While they argued the business vs. sports aspects of baseball, the possibility that a Senate group may also dig into the same controversy remained very much alive.

Awaits Report—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of the Senate antitrust subcommittee, said he was awaiting a staff report on previous studies and rulings applied to baseball, football and other professional sports. Kefauver said he would decide on the basis of that report and the subcommittee's already busy calendar whether to schedule hearings.

Another subcommittee member, Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), said he considered both baseball and football to be businesses but had no legislative recommendations to make at this time.

Congress members have clashed individually over the desirability of regulating professional sports by law ever since the Supreme Court decreed two weeks ago that the National Football League is subject to federal antitrust statutes. The court previously declared baseball exempt from the same legislation.

Celler Iried—Celler was irked by Commissioner Frick's suggestion to baseball people to refrain from comment on the court's decisions.

Over the weekend Frick chided C. Leo Deorsey, a director of the Washington Senators, for expressing the opinion as a lawyer that baseball is a big business and proposing some changes in the major leagues' operations.

"Frick wants to gag everybody," Celler said. "Hasn't he heard of the First Amendment? He wants to be the Pooh-Bah and the only one."

The First Amendment guarantees free speech. Keating, on the other hand, said he didn't think Congress "ought to be telling the leaders of organized baseball how to conduct themselves."

STC Gym Team Performs At Polk

KRESSVILLE—East Stroudsburg State Teachers' College varsity gymnastic team performed before a capacity crowd in the Polk High School auditorium last night.

The ESSTC team, coached by Edmund Shay and Miss Mary Whitenight, gave an 14-act exhibition, including drills, tumbling, horses and springboard, trampoline, parallel bars performances.

Commercial 'B' To Bowl Today

COMMERCIAL "B" League will resume pin action today at Harmon's Recreation, East Stroudsburg, starting at 7 p.m.

Alleys one and two—Schaefer's vs. Ye Saylor's Inn. Alleys three and four—L. and B. Appliances vs. Babe's Service Station. Alleys five and six—Eagles "B" vs. Frank the Barber.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Woman Makes Gift To Band Mothers

DURING THE past eight months, groups of East Stroudsburg women have put in a lot of time and effort (some of it in door-to-door fundraising) to buy new band uniforms for their children.

They were members of the East Stroudsburg Area Band Mothers Assn., headed by Mrs. Howard Kintner.

Last night Mrs. Kintner said that she thought an action by one woman should be pointed out for special commendation. All the other members who took part in the active drive for money have already been thanked and praised for their work.

This week Mrs. Kintner said, a woman "who could not take part in any other activities donated a piece of work which took her hours and hours to make". The article will also benefit the uniform drive "in any way the organization sees fit", Mrs. Kintner said.

White Shawl

The "article" in this case is a white nylon and wool shawl. It is 25 by 70 inches in width and length. And it is the work of Mrs. Thomas Blair, Grandview Ave.

Mrs. Blair has four children. Two of them are in school. A daughter, Anna Marie, is a member of the Junior High Band. It was "because she wanted to do something to show her appreciation for Anna Marie's band work and what it has done for her" that Mrs. Blair began knitting the shawl.

Aside from the fact that knitting isn't easy, Mrs. Kintner said, Mrs. Blair also had to do her work in the face of family illness and while she was taking care of her fourth baby who is less than a year old.

Mrs. Kintner called the shawl "one of the most beautiful things I have seen."

36-Pound Wildcat Bagged In Annual Hunting Grind

second dog. His name was "Old Mac", a dog between 16 and 18 years with "a lot of mileage on him." "Old Mac" belongs to Joe Price.

Both dogs took off on the track of the cat. About an hour later the dogs had found him and frightened him into attempted escape. They were hot on the trail, their bodies lunging forward with new fervor.

Because most "cats" come out only at night, like other wildlife preying on smaller animals, the hunter must run his hounds on a lukewarm track in the daylight, waiting for the dog to get close enough to the cat to startle him into making a new and stronger trail.

The cat started a little more than an hour after "Pocono Nell" and "Old Mac" found him and set him off on a fresh trail.

Out of a clump of underbrush, partly into a clearing, the cat "ran" directly into the path of Ray Price Sr. Price raised his gun.

The cat whipped backward, jolted by the shot, its body tilted jerkily in the grey-brown covering of earth. It was a "pretty big one", the men said. It weighed about 36 pounds, even though it was starved thin by a bad winter season.

The rest of the men heard the shot. Yelling back and forth, they agreed to swing the car around, pick up Price, the cat and the dogs.

"Pocono Nell" and "Old Mac" were snapped together again, on leashes. The dogs dropped, contentedly, a short distance away from the cat after their first howling direct contact with the kill.

The men moved to another area, two and a half miles away, in the afternoon. This time they used a younger dog with "Nell" named "Jeffrey". They caught a scent, kept on the trail until 5:30. Then Van Vliet called "Nell" back in. The men had to go back at 9 that night to find "Jeff", owned by Ray Price Sr., who was a "new dog" this year.

To call the dog in they used "Fox horns" and, by way of supplement, their own voices. The "horns" in this case are made of the horns of deer. They are traditional, have been used by hunters in England and elsewhere for centuries. The sound emitted by the "horn" is roughly similar to that made by a diesel engine whistle. It vibrates in such a manner that the dog responds instantly, beginning to howl, head back, nose tilted upward, his long throat pulsating with the visible muscular effort of his voice.

For the five Barrett men, the "wildcat chase" is one of a series run during each year. The others are unscheduled. This one is always on the docket.

Five Square Miles In the hunt this week, the men and their dogs covered an area of about five square miles. It was one of the broadest chases they have had in recent years - and one of the best from the standpoint of performance.

All five of the men look upon the annual event as the keeping alive of an old and valid tradition. They are somewhat philosophical about that.

And there was something a little more than philosophical in the way one of the men talked about it later, after it was over.

Maybe it's just the thrill of the hunt itself, he said, but I don't think so. You get swept up in this and you're carried on by what is happening. Later you have time to think.

Think for example, that the cat and the dog and the hunter are all a part of a chain of hunting. The cat begins his night by tracking the path of a smaller animal and the cat leaves his own track behind.

In the morning a dog catches the scent of the track and the dog and the man together, bound by their superiority and their intelligence, track their prey to the hole in the side of the hill or the thick grove of trees until he dies. And then he lies, dying in the clearing beyond the trees. Looking for all the world, like the rabbit whose life left him beneath the wildcat's claws the night before.

The sun goes down. And, somewhere on the side of a mountain, a cat stirs himself from sleep, stretches his tight legs and his jaws.

Then he moves downward to the ground - and the scent of a new track in the snow.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR WED. MARCH 13, 1957

March 13, April 21 (Aries) - You could use imagination, precision and accuracy to great advantage now. But more than that, you could make a day successful by a thoughtful judge. Control temper, emotions, and be a realist. Don't concentrate on either new projects or old ones, as long as they are matters of immediate need. During this adjustment period, give good ideas a chance.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) - This day's influences are somewhat mixed. But, if you start right and maintain a steady tempo, you will do more than even you expect. It's nice to surprise one's self.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) - Favorable outlook gives some sound insurance of good progress if your efforts are sincere. Most urgent tasks with tact, understanding and consistency essential.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) - With your good humor and willingness to take advice, and to understand honest differences of opinion, you can make this day the bright one it should be. Don't waste time or endeavor on unessential.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) - If you don't at first succeed, try, try again - motto as good as gold now. In public and domestic matters, be unusually tactful, eager to smooth out irritability. Avoid haste.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) - You may be able to accomplish more than many today, yet you may be stumped at seemingly small matters. Remain calm, be rightly determined, and don't give up. Calculate carefully.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) - Don't let your imagination and management and sensible allocation of your duties. Be your infinitely intelligent, constructive self and you will attain.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius) - Follow your intuition and sense of values with enthusiasm. Don't weaken where your ability can produce. You are capable; have faith in greater achievement.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) - It might be smart to review briefly before beginning day's program. Can you eliminate any waste motion to speed results and save energies? Don't cut essentials, however.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) - With your planet Uranus, going into an excellent aspect tomorrow, you can anticipate happy conclusions, well-spent and successful efforts, and pleasure through happy friendships. Work for those.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) - Work more slowly if it would help you to think better or preserve your health. Don't be dilatory. A fine day for developing new ideas, methods, intuitions, and progressive.

YOU BORN TODAY? Responsive, deep emotions, genius are prominent in Pisces. You can be successful at anything you undertake if you keep developing your talents and if you do not yield to fears and doubts. You can rise to great heights when given the chance. Keep smiling. You are endowed with inspiration; often know intuitively when to do things. Properly used, this faculty can be a means to great good. Birthdate: Jack Laif, newspaper editor, writer.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right, numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your name. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Eat Your Troubles Away! Starches, Sugar Cause Trouble

By LeLard Kordel
Installment Nine

meats, eggs, cheese and fish.

"But we must have carbohydrates for energy," you say. "You are only half correct. While it's true that the sole function of carbohydrates is to provide heat and energy, what about the Eskimos who eat nothing except meat and fish—protein foods?"

How then, if the Eskimos in remote areas never eat anything except protein foods, can their bodies receive the fuel and energy which carbohydrates provide?

Diseases Of Civilization

It's only where "white" civilization has brought in its white flour and white sugar that the Eskimo falls victim to respiratory and intestinal diseases. Colds and constipation were the "benefits" of civilization which we bestowed upon the poor Eskimo.

Any textbook on physiology will tell you that protein burns with a hotter flame, and produces more heat and energy than either carbohydrates or fats in this proportion: 30 for protein, six for carbohydrates and four for fats.

You get natural sugars in every food you eat. Even the all-meat diet of the Eskimo contains about 15 per cent natural sugars. Plants are nature's sugar manufacturers, and these energy sugars are passed on to the animals, fowl and sea life that feed upon them.

When you eat enough proteins you need never worry about getting enough carbohydrates. Your big worry should be not to eat too much carbohydrates.

Protein is a complete food: That is, you could live long and vigorously on an exclusive diet of protein foods. This is not true of carbohydrates. A great number of war prisoners in Oriental prison camps perished because they starved to death on an all-carbohydrate diet.

Strain On Heart

Not only do high-starch meals overload the stomach and place an unnecessary strain on the heart, they are also predisposing factors in many ailments and serious disease that appear in later years.

Dr. Haven Emerson of Columbia University points out that since grains were first milled (that is, since the protein, minerals and vitamins were taken out of the wheat) diabetes has increased 1,150 per cent! Corresponding increases have also been made in heart disease, kidney disease and cancer.

High blood pressure has increased 200 per cent during the past 10 years. Anemia and appendicitis have also increased at an appalling rate.

These are diseases wholly unknown among primitive peoples who use only unmilled grains rich in all the vitamins of the B-complex group.

Heavy starch-eaters are also more susceptible to sinus and respiratory infections than are those who limit their carbohydrate intake to the sugars and starches found in natural foods, fruits, vegetables, milk and whole grains.

Asthma, Constipation

Many persons who attend my lectures have told me that all symptoms of their asthma disappeared after they had eliminated white sugar from their diets, substituting honey and fruit juices as sweeteners.

Constipation, a common symptom of digestive disorders, is another universal ailment that can be traced directly to high-starch food habits. The same holds true for gas in the intestines and belching, which are uncomfortable manifestations of undigested starches fermenting in the digestive tract.

Car Drivers Warned

The U. S. National Safety Council warns automobile drivers against overeating on starches before and during trips.

That stuffy feeling which is the sure result of a too-starchy meal (rarely can one eat enough protein to produce the gorged feeling, since the appetite is satisfied much more quickly with protein foods than with high starches) cuts down your mental and physical alertness and leaves you wanting to doze, an extremely dangerous desire when one is behind the wheel of an automobile.

The average driver has the habit of stuffing himself on candies, cake, pie, sandwiches and sweet drinks, all easily accessible to the motorist at every roadside stand; often he substitutes these all-starch items for regular protein meals.

Unnecessary aging begins with starch addiction.

Perpetual Jag

Yes, that is the correct word, for it is an addiction, nothing less. More than half the American populace stays on a perpetual sugar jag. The ardent driver who points a pious finger at the village drunk, and then goes home to three meals a day of heavy starch dishes—pies, cakes, rich puddings, plus munchings of bonbons and gulping of sweetened beverages—is just as intemperate.

I am justified in calling these cravings an addiction, because carbohydrates (sugars and starches) are converted in the human body into a type of sugar which, in great quantities, gives the identical "lift," or satisfaction, as that experienced by an alcoholic when he yields to his abnormal cravings.

But I must be careful not to give all carbohydrates a black eye, for like many villains there is also a good side to our bad man. The carbohydrates found in vegetables, fruits, milk, whole grains and seed cereals are good carbohydrates provided from natural sources. These foods also contain varying amounts of protein (something wholly lacking in artificial starches), in addition to valuable minerals and vitamins, and furnish a necessary contribution to your diet.

It's only when carbohydrates wander too far from the "straight and narrow path" of good nutrition that they become harmful.

CANADENSIS — Evans-Blitz American Legion Post of Barrett Township at its regular bi-monthly meeting tonight intends to make plans for this year's carnival.

Plans will include the date, type of carnival and facilities to handle this project.

Ultimate goals from the financial success of our carnival and other affairs is for a better community program. Members intend to complete the heat installation at the Legion building, to complete the basketball court and improve the property with other additions.

These proposed improvements make possible a wider range of children and teen-age activities. Plans call for an annual Valentine and Halloween dance, more roller skating, more dancing and some dance instruction activities for teen-age groups.

In both instances, only small sections of grassland were burned over, firemen said.

get an Electric Water Heater and... LIVE BETTER...Electrically

Compare a modern, completely automatic ELECTRIC water heater with any other water heating method for cleanliness.

Old-fashioned flame-type heaters are dirty. They give off soot, smoke and fumes that add to cleaning chores. Their uncontrolled high heat often means rusty water.

Automatic electric water heaters are clean as electric light. There's nothing to cause dirt... no smoke, no soot, no fumes.

Yes, your best buy is ELECTRIC!

Chimp's Art Draws Buyers

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—A Moscow radio commentator says Americans are clamoring to buy paintings by a six-year-old chimpanzee. Commentator Valentin Zorin said:

"You no doubt think this is a great joke. It is not a joke... The rich flock to private showings and fall over one another to buy works by this genius."

He identified the chimp admired by "hysterical worshippers of abstract art" simply as "Betsy."
